

Urgent Shipment to China Before Chinese New Year

Freightline's Expertise Ensures Timely Delivery
During a Critical Holiday Deadline

The Challenge

In January 2025, Freightline received an urgent shipment request from a leading electronics manufacturer. The shipment contained critical components for the production of consumer electronics, in high demand for the Chinese New Year holiday season. With less than two weeks before the holiday, the components had to reach China before the factories and ports closed.

Failure to meet the deadline would result in significant financial penalties, production downtime, and missed product launches. Adding complexity to the situation were customs delays and logistical bottlenecks, as shipments increased leading up to the holiday.

Our Strategy

Freightline quickly implemented a time-sensitive logistics plan to ensure the shipment arrived before the Chinese New Year shutdown. We secured premium air freight, expedited customs clearance, and selected efficient routes to minimise delays.

With 24/7 support and real-time tracking, we kept the client informed and enabled quick decision-making, ensuring smooth, timely delivery.

THE COST OF POOR COMMUNICATION

Failure to meet the deadline could have resulted in production downtime and financial penalties during the critical Chinese New Year season.

Our Impact

Freightline successfully delivered the shipment to Shanghai on 25 January, three days before the Chinese New Year shutdown, avoiding production delays and financial penalties. Customs clearance was smooth, and the shipment arrived at the client's facility the next day. By meeting the deadline, we helped the client avoid millions in lost revenue, allowing production to continue without additional costs. The client now considers Freightline their trusted partner for time-sensitive shipments.
